Description

Slither.io is a multiplayer game designed for Internet browsers, which from the very beginning of existence conquered the hearts of many players. GAME RULES 1. The fun mechanics itself is based largely on the well-known game of the "snake" - we play as reptile-like creatures and we fight for domination in the virtual arena with other players. The board is dotted with variously colored, glowing points that we (and we must) collect to increase our score and the size of our hero, which in turn entails a number of positive as well as negative effects: indeed, we become a much greater threat to other players, but at the same time our mobility is getting worse. 2. Snakes are also equipped with a special skill: when moving, when we hold down the left mouse button, we can use a short-time acceleration, which very often turns out to be very useful. First of all, on the board from time to time, in addition to regular balls, there are also slightly larger, providing a big bonus to the pool of points, however, getting them is not so easy - points of this kind on the occasion move, effectively run away from snakes, which are too close , while their speed of movement is such that there is no possibility of catching them without using the skills described. It is also very important to use the acceleration directly in the fight between the players: we can easily avoid the trap set by the opponent or use it a bit more offensively. 3. A specific combat system - it is actually quite unique: we do not use any bullets or "direct" weapons in competition with other players; instead, approach the opponent so that his head meets our body. It is worth noting at this point that the size of the snake does not matter if the opponent dies after a collision or not, thanks to which the gameplay is a bit more balanced: the new players are not so "backwards" in relation to the stronger snakes, while the latter ones they still have to be on their guard and take into account in

Review

There are some titles that become classics in the world of games and applications. During the nineties there was an application for mobile phones that was all the rage and is still remembered today. We refer to the program Snake, the popular title of the snake that was pre-installed in the terminals of the Finnish company Nokia.

For all those full of nostalgia or for the lucky ones who still do not know this game mechanic, Lowtech Studios offers us the possibility to play Slither.io.

Download Slither.io brings us an installment that refers to both the popular production Agar.io and the historic Snake. Both achieved significant recognition among users. The Lowtech Studios app can be played for free both on mobiles with Android and iOS operating systems and on computers through the official website.

One of the advantages of Slither.io is that it is a very easy title to play with simple, straightforward and accessible controls. It is entertainment for all ages. After starting the game, we must choose an invented nickname, which will be visible on us in the game. The Lowtech Studios app, created in 2016, is an online game where we will test our strengths and skills with other real users from around the world. After entering the fictitious name that represents us, we are transferred to the board. The place where the action takes place is a black map with colored balls scattered in different places. The central point of all this will be to control a small snake, which can have several masks. The basic task is to move our snake across the map, which can be done in a very simple way. As we said, the controls and handling of our figure is very simple, we can do it with just a mouse, because our elongated friend will always follow our cursor. The control seems very simple, but we will soon notice that it will require a lot of skill and that we are focused. By controlling our character, we can collect colorful points on the board.

By enjoying one of the best and most entertaining free applications such as Slither.io, you will face a significant challenge. Your goal is to add and score points to become the master of the server you are playing on. The basic mission that Slither.io puts in front of us is to achieve the best result on the server, that is, the highest score. On the right side of the board we always see the current ranking, in which the best people on the server are presented, who are active and participating in the game at that moment.

While it seems like a very simple proposition, Slither.io trains your dexterity. It is an application that forces you to think strategically. This is due to the fact that on the one hand we want to have the largest snake on the server, but on the other hand it is a bit more difficult to control it when it is large. We will also have to deal with the task of fleeing from those who have larger figures. They will always be behind the smallest to destroy them.

Slither.io is a free online offer so you can get the app for free. Each person who logs into the server has exactly the same chance of winning as the others. This program is about reflexes, manual skills and correct game planning. There are no purchases within or integrated that give a greater or less advantage to a user to earn a greater number of points.

Upon entering the world of Slither.io, you will come across an idea that will be very simple at first but will gradually immerse you in a competitive and dynamic world. Every time someone removes you, you will want to return instantly to recover what is yours.

A good tip or tip to keep in mind is that if you double-click or double-tap on the screen, your snake will have a little acceleration and will go faster. This movement serves both to devour an enemy or to flee from him.

Get ready for one of the most addictive adventures on the web with Slither.io.
