If Facebook is a useful, effective and fast social network, wait until you see its special messaging service. If you are looking to connect with your Facebook friends directly, at no cost and with the possibility of exchanging all kinds of files, and even making video calls, you have to download Messenger.

Messenger is a free app, available for mobile phones with Android and iOS operating systems that works as a message platform between users of the social network created by Mark Zuckerberg in 2004.

One of the advantages of Messenger is that you can chat, send files or make conferences without any additional cost and in an unlimited way. It is only necessary that you have a WIFI connection or a data plan.

When you download Messenger, all the contacts you have on your list will be synchronized with the app so that you can establish the best conversations with them. You can even add more than one and create groups of up to 50 people to talk by text or video calls with no time limit. The maximum number of participants in video connections is 8 people.

If you use the app for a long time or in bright environments, you can turn on the dark mode. The interface is one of the latest innovations that they added and allows you to rest your eyes if you spend many hours using the program.

One of the changes that online conversations have undergone is the incorporation of the use of funny images to accompany our expressions, feelings or messages. With Facebook Messenger you will have the chance to use a wide variety of emoticons, stickers or GIFs. Share original and fun designs.

Also, if you still use the SMS system of your terminal, you will have the opportunity to configure it and synchronize it with Messenger. Keep all your messages and conversations in one place. If you have more than one device on which you install the app, it will not be a problem since it is compatible with the vast majority of systems and platforms.

Install Messenger for free and start enjoying all the benefits of Facebook translated into a modern, fast and effective message system.
