Description

In addition, any user has the possibility to take photographs or videos, adding not only the filters of which we have spoken, but also texts or different drawings. This can be shared with other contacts, for a limited time, something that many other applications, such as Instagram have "copied", although in some cases without the success of Snapchat. With the passage of time Snapchat has been adding options and functionalities, and although many bet for a loss of popularity of the application, with the advances of Instagram and Facebook, today is still one of the most successful applications and with a number of downloads that continues to grow in both Google Play and the App Store, where it is available for download for free. Snapchat has tried in recent times to diversify its business, without much success and is that it seems that users like the filters and the many options that have been offered since its inception, and that are the end of the day They have given the enormous success that it has today. Ready to immerse yourself in the appealing and fun world of Snapchat?

Review

The world and the offer of social networks is very wide. Although we all know two or three that are the best known, there are some alternatives that are not so popular in certain countries that have very good benefits to offer. We are going to tell you why you have to download Snapchat.

Snapchat was born in 2011 as the college project of the young Evan Spiegel. As people learned about the show, its popularity soared, especially among teenagers. The platform has a feature that distinguishes it from its competitors and that is that it is exclusively designed and optimized for mobile phones.

You can download Snapchat for free on mobile phones and become part of one of the funniest communities on social media. Once you install it and create your profile, you will find yourself enjoying its benefits in seconds.

Using Snapchat is very simple, easy and accessible and you will notice that the app is synchronized with your mobile camera. That is, you open the camera of your device and you will have access to Snapchat. From there you can send an image or a video to your family or friends. You can also add effects, texts, emojis or fun filters. If you don't want the file to remain saved, you can choose how long you want it to be deleted.

If you organize a group for caller, they will have the opportunity to make video calls of up to 16 people simultaneously. And the funniest thing is that you can add filters and effects to that conversation.

You will have the opportunity to share stories so that your friends can see what you are doing. And if you want to find stories from other users, you can see content suggested by the app according to your tastes, preferences and choices.

Another advantage of Snapchat is that if you want to share or know the location of people, you can do it with the Snaps Map alternative.

Snapchat is one of the most original social networks that you can access. Its exclusive functions for mobile phones make the experience unique compared to its competitors. Share the funniest images with the best effects on Snapchat.

✓ Pros

- It is a most entertaining application that will give you hours and hours of fun, as well as a collection of funniest images and videos
- It is a totally free application and without too many ads
- End-to-end encryption
- Content is self-destructive

✗ Cons

- Sometimes the filters offered by Snapchat end up spoiling any photograph
- The data consumption of our telephone rate is seriously affected by the use of this application, so do not lose sight of this data
- The battery of smartphones is not infinite and if you use Snapchat, you will not even be able to say that it lasts long
- Some users may become very focused and selfish

Tips

1. Do not abuse the Snapchat filters or sooner or later your friends will end up hating you
2. Watch closely your smartphone and is that Snapchat uses the camera continuously, in addition to being permanently connected to the network of networks
3. You may not find a more entertaining and fun free application that is
