Description

Ubisoft has announced The following additions: Sunken Treasures, Botanica and The Passage. The cost of the season pass is 99zł. In addition to the additions mentioned, season pass holders will gain access to cosmetic items: A prisoner portrait and two company logos (Promethean Fire and Eagle Crest). The suned Treasure Pack will present a new character-an eccentric scientist. Together with him we move to an untested European island to find a hidden treasure. Botanica, will unlock a new building-botanical garden, which will increase the attractiveness of our city and attract tourists. Another novelty will be the music pavilion, which will allow you to listen to songs from the soundtracks of previous views of Anno games. The expedition will take us to the Arctic Circle, where we will perform the search for a lost polar trip. Surviving in such extreme conditions will require the use of completely new buildings and tools. In addition to the aforementioned DLC, Anno 1800 will also receive free updates that include: a new building type that provides insight into the exact gameplay stats: Cooperative mode, where players will be able to control a single Empire; The challenges of the community, which are regularly emerging tasks for the whole community of players Anno 1800 , whose execution will unlock new cosmetic items for all participating. When you tap on a hut or residents, you'll find their needs and level of satisfaction on the right. The icons are identical to those symbolizing the building, so it is very easy to identify what your inhabitant needs. Farmers are demanding access to the market, fish and basic clothes. When you provide them with these items, you will be able to upgrade your farmer's hut and create laborers. This will give you a new social group that works in newly unlocked buildings, which greatly expands the scope of your development opportunities.

✓ Pros

- Very good graphics for strategy game,
- A great mission,
- The policy System of gaining or losing reputation points in individual NPCs

✗ Cons

---

- After passing the game we do not have additional missions,
- By bad use of the policy system you can easily offended an NPC and prevent war,

Tips

1. After the start of the game, focus on creating a large number of huts, for new residents of your island, -Create a lot of objects generating building materials, -Use planning mode
