When cleaning at home you always find objects or clothes that are new but you are not going to use them again and it makes you sad to have to throw them away because you know that someone else can use them, getting more out of it and managing to give it a second useful life. There are many games and mobile applications that have been created to facilitate this task for waste pickers, also making them earn extra money from the sale of these things.

There are some that are the most famous and the most used by the vast majority of people, but there are others that, although they are not so popular, also offer a lot of advantages for their users. This is the case of OfferUp, a platform that facilitates the process of buying and selling second-hand products. Download OfferUp for free, you find it available for Android and iOS devices.

What you have to be clear about is that this free application is focused on mobile phones, although you can also use its computer version through its official website. You can use it whether you have items that you no longer need and want to earn money with them, or if what you are looking for is to buy with a fixed budget. Everything is possible at OfferUp.

Above all, it is widely used locally, bringing buyers closer to the smaller shops in the area. One of the advantages of OfferUp is that it simplifies the buying and selling processes, making it much easier to use than other similar platforms.

All its characteristics have made it one of the favorites, making the transaction a success on many occasions. You just have to create your list of items that you want to put on sale, set the price of each one of them and voila, that easy, in a few steps you will have them all for sale in your profile, so that all those potential buyers can visit your storefront and see what you offer.

When buying an object it is also very simple, once you have selected what you want to buy, you just have to write a message to the buyer. In this way, you can clarify all the doubts that have arisen about the article and decide how to make the exchange. The way in which this communication is going to take place is within the app itself, which makes the purchase process very fast, since messages can be sent instantly and this facilitates communication. Although most of the things you can find are more local, you will also find lists at the national level, in which the shipment of the items is offered to the physical address indicated by the buyer.

In the OfferUp app you can sell everything you can think of that you have at home. From clothes, decorative objects, electronic devices, to furniture or household appliances. Each of these items on your list will be accompanied by their respective photos, you can add up to 12 images, in which the state of conservation of the object is shown from all possible angles. In this way you will help the visitors of your profile to get a very clear idea of the real state of what interests them.

When they have an imperfection, you should take a clear photo of this section and detail in the description. Users value sincerity very much, and if they feel that they are being deceived they will not buy the objects on your list, that is why it is so important to give credit and value to your window, getting the buyer to be happy and give you good evaluations, which it will help you attract new customers. Both sellers and buyers are rated up to 5 stars. This way it will be very easy for you to distinguish those who have a good reputation.

The forms of payment that it supports are very varied. There are certain areas in which it will allow payment within the app itself, although the most common are direct purchase through a credit or debit card, all of which guarantee the security of the data provided, or even in cash at the time of exchange. With the OfferUp application, everything is easy for its users and that is why it has become the favorite of millions of people around the world.
