Description

World of Warships is the best game simulating Sea battles. It has in its offer Historic Warships from the times of World War I and II! The game offers missions, challenges, campaigns and collections to create additional goals , rewards and significant progress for players during their games. These systems also provide the ability to create stories inside or outside military or historical genres. Special Halloween modes, April Fool's day or other holiday battles appear in the game. The second goal of "holiday modes" is to test the new game mechanics. Battles take place on a limited number of specific maps, each of which presents a specific location with different geographical layouts, mainly based on the locations of historical naval battles. Most maps in World of Warships have a static or dynamic weather system to make battles even more varied. In addition, some maps are unique to a specific game mode, e.g. Battles of PvE scenarios based on historical events such as the Dunkirk evacuation. Scenarios is a PvE game mode in which players cooperate and perform tasks. They include a series of operations, each of which has separate stories, goals, secondary goals and rewards. To end the scenario, players must join forces and complete the main goal. After completing their secondary goals, they receive an additional star. In addition to ranking battles , clan battles have been introduced as another rivalry mode in the season format. Payers can participate only in clan battles, as opposed to ranking battles, in which individual players compete with each other.

Review

World of Warships is a free massively multiplayer game created and published by Wargaming after previous World of Tanks and World of Warplanes games. In addition to random battles with other players, you can play cooperative types of bot battles or PvE in advanced combat mode. There are two seasonal competition modes available to the most qualified players.

Developed by Lesta Studio and published by Wargaming World of Warships was originally released on Microsoft Windows and macOS in 2017. After the computer version, there was a game for iOS mobile devices titled World of Warships Blitz in 2018.

Downloading World of Warships for free gives us access to a slow motion tactical shooting game with two basic weapons: ship cannons and torpedoes. The game itself has a team character, thus giving players the opportunity to work as a team. As part of the team, you can create divisions to allow a group of up to three players to come together and fight together. The team of players can fight against other players (PvP) or against AI (PvE) in three battle modes: Standard, Domination and Epicentrum. Each mode is scored on a point system. The warships featured in the game span periods from the early 20th century, at the dawn of battleships, to warships of the 1950s, including planned ships, but they never occurred. The game has four different types of ships: destroyers, cruisers, battleships, and aircraft carriers. Aircraft carriers that allow the player to directly control the flying squadrons.

The naval forces represented in the game are the U.S. Navy, the Japanese Imperial Navy, the German Imperial Navy, and the Kriegsmarine in Germany, the Royal Navy, the Imperial Navy, and the Russian Soviet Navy Army, the French Navy and the Pansia tree with multi-navy ships from East and Southeast Asia. Other armies so far in the game are represented by individual "non-timber" premium ships, including the Polish Navy, the Republic of China Navy, and the People's Liberation Army Army Army (both located in Pan-Asia), Royal Navy Navy and Royal Canadian Navy (both located near the Commonwealth), Regia Marina and the Argentine navy.

A lot of people wonder which is the best ship or the best nation that they could use. The most recommended nation to start playing is nothing more and nothing less than Russia! It is an excellent ship that you get to get on the cruise branch in the Russian Nation, the Bogatyr is a very good ship because it is completely balanced in what one wants to have as the first serious forceful ship in the game, not to say That the previous boats are useless but there are boats that obviously do not have the advantage that this other has.

The Bogatyr has a pretty good heart, incredible artillery and besides this game is very versatile. First of all it has enough life to be able to capture a point, fight it, obviously it is not like the battle ships that can hold up to 16 torpedoes on the whole side but to be a level 3 ship it supports its good series of shots, its good series of the year consistent and also critical then it is highly recommended that they start by unlocking this little boat if they want to start practicing so that their games are entertaining because they have enough speed to be able to get quickly to points, and in addition to that, it is a boat that it has enough artillery for you to get yourself two or three hills per game because it does damage, damage and damage. The speed of this ship compared to the others that are initial is very good, incredibly good, many people are recommending it for those people who want to be there constantly and be prepared for the battlefield.

Not only do cruises exist because there are different game modes, cruises are like it's a standard swim that can provide as much support as it can also provide a lot of collateral damage, bringing many wonders to the team.

World of Warships is one of the best game and app deals available.
